NEW YORK — (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur, after triumphant visits to Chicago and Milwaukee, today will review New York's fourth annual loyalty day parade featuring an estimated half-million marchers.

The general will head the huge Fifth Avenue procession in an automobile from its starting point (1 p. m., EST) at 95th street to the official reviewing stand at 67th Street.

VFW Gives Medal

There he will be presented with a medal by Charles C. Ralls, commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, sponsors of the parade since 1948 to counteract left-wing May day activities.

The medal for the ousted Far Eastern commander was voted by the VFW at its encampment last August in Chicago. In a statement to the encampment, MacArthur suggested American occupation of Formosa. President Truman then asked the general to withdraw his statement. It was the first open break between MacArthur and the administration.

Giant B-36 Plunges In Collision, Takes 14 Airmen To Death

CARNEY, Okla. — (AP) — A giant Air Force B-36 bomber and an F-51 fighter plane collided during a mock air raid on Oklahoma City yesterday, plunging 14 airmen 15,000 feet to their deaths.

Four members of the crew parachuted to safety.

An Air Force announcement said early today that "14 men are presumed to be dead or missing"—13 on the bomber and the fighter pilot.

At first it was believed 16 were aboard the huge B-36, but later officials said there were 17.

Bodies and debris were scattered over a mile-wide area in an oat field.

The tragedy near here was the Air Force's second costly mishap in two days. Eleven crewmen were

Australia Picks New Parliament

Coalition Government Safe In Election

SYDNEY, Australia — (AP) — Early counting in Australia's parliamentary elections today indicated the Liberal-County coalition government of Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies is safe but that the Labor party he ousted in 1949 may have picked up five or six seats in the House of Representatives.

Returns began pouring in from all parts of the country after nearly 5,000,000 voted in a record turnout for an entirely new house and senate—Australia's 20th parliament.

Menzies himself and his principal opponent, Labor Leader Joseph B. Chifley both appeared certain to have retained their seats.

Voting is compulsory in Australia.

Both Menzies and Chifley had a two-to-one edge over their opponents with close to half of the votes counted in their respective election districts.

The voting started quietly this morning, but the early queuing of long lines indicated the interest in the election. Major campaign issues were how to deal with Communism and rising living costs.

Williams Hangs Political Hopes On Sen. Moody

Governor Feels He's Democratic Party

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING — (AP) — Governor Williams made one of the big political gambles of our time when he appointed Blair Moody, Washington newspaperman to the United States Senate.

Williams virtually staked his own future and that of the Michigan Democratic party on Moody.

If Moody clicks as a senator, as a campaigner, and wins reelection in 1952, Williams will be proven a political genius.

If Moody misses on any one of those, and obviously the odds are against him, Williams will be proven to be a political lumber in the eyes of his party.

Inner Circles Fume

Few governors have cared to play for such stakes.

Williams could have named any one of half a dozen candidates for the job and been nearer to the tree trunk than he is now.

Anyone of them could be beaten for election to the Senate in 1952 and the bulk of the party would have said "Well, that's life for you."

Now, nothing but unqualified success and victory will satisfy the party chiefs that Williams is entitled to lead the Democrats.

Moody's appointment was greeted with fury in inner party circles, no matter what the party chiefs said publicly. Some of the anger is beginning to cool off and no one can say how long it will last.

Boys May Sulk

Williams is still governor and Moody is senator. Between them they should have some patronage to dispense. The Democratic politicians will keep quiet and at least keep within jumping distance of the band wagon.

But the question bothering Williams' campaign strategists is whether the mad boys will go in to the quiet sulk, sit on their hands in 1952 and let the party ticket sink.

It would not be the first time the Democrats cut off their own noses to spite a governor. A much more independent group than the Republicans, the Democrats do not have that organizational devotion which impels them to work for the ticket no matter who is on it.

The Moody appointment demonstrated that Williams today

Big Allied Guns In Seoul Blast Reds; People Flee

ESCANABA ANGLERS HEAR TROUT CALL — Sunday skies greeted Escanaba anglers today as the fly and bait enthusiasts went out to match their skill against the wily trout on the opening day of the season. Conditions were not too good, due to rains and cold weather, but it didn't stop the fishermen who have been waiting months for this day. # Enemy Seizes Key Route To Korean Capital

Communists Pour In Reserve Troops

(By The Associated Press)

Big Allied guns at Seoul blasted oncoming Communist forces today as the destroyed city's population fled. Uijongbu, key approach center to Seoul, was in enemy hands.

Despite terrific losses, the Chinese Reds continued to pour southward. In their six-day-old spring offensive they have suffered 41,565 in killed and wounded but they have made their long-continued push since they went into action last November.

Supply Road Cut

The Allies pulled out of Kapyong without a fight. This strategic highway city lies 33 air miles northeast of Seoul. Communist occupation of Kapyong cut the major supply artery running 45 miles northeastward from Seoul to Chunchon. Late reports said Chunchon was still in Allied hands.

In the central sector, the Reds were exerting pressure on Allied troops falling back from the Hwachon reservoir area north of Chunchon.

Except on the east coast, United Nations forces were fighting the enemy below the 38th parallel.

Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet said yesterday Allied troops might wheel and stop the Red advance north of the Han river, which skirts the southern edge of Seoul.

Slowed By Mud

However, the Eighth army commander, was keeping mum on just how far south his troops would go before turning in their war of maneuver, in which killing Chinese is more important than holding real estate.

A pelting rain and roads turned into quagmires slowed the Chinese in some sectors. They came up slowly on Kapyong, too late to trap U. N. forces. The weather also grounded many Allied planes.

Warships off the east coast turned their guns on enemy troops in support of South Korean forces still fighting north of the border.

Hungary Frees U. S. Executive

Vogeler Has Reunion With His Family

NICKELSDORF, Austria — (AP) — Robert A. Vogeler, 39-year-old American business executive, was freed today from a Communist jail in Hungary where he spent 17 months on charges of spying for the United States.

Vogeler was released at this Austro-Hungarian frontier village and was whisked away in a car by American officials to a reunion with his beautiful blonde wife, Lucille, and their two young sons in Vienna, 40 miles west of here.

Pale but trim, Vogeler smiled at reporters who met him near the border and exclaimed: "Nobody can be happier than I am."

He was clean shaven and wore a dark suit and white shirt.

Vogeler was met at the frontier by Arthur Shower, American consul general in Vienna, and Halvor Eckern, a member of the U. S. legation staff.

Vogeler, a vice president of the International Telephone and Telegraph company, had been sentenced in February, 1950, to serve 15 years in prison. He was convicted by a Communist court in Budapest on espionage charges.

Trout Season Draws 100,000

Big Turnout Reported For Opening Day

ALDEN, Mich. — (AP) — A record 100,000 trout fishermen were estimated to be on the Michigan lakes and streams today to open the 1951 trout season.

Observers in the north country said that traffic conditions and the crowding of towns in the trout areas indicated a far larger turnout than last year and probably the best crowd on record.

The conservation department said that some 30,000 trout stamps were sold by the opening weekend last year.

Upper Peninsula opening day conditions were reported improved over the early part of the week but still far from perfect and poorer than the northern Lower Peninsula. There was still snow above the straits which means that there is cold water in the streams and generally poor fishing. Trout Lake offered the best chance for fishing success in the Upper Peninsula, observers said.

Bill To Boost Tax Revenue 10 Billion In House Committee

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The House ways and means committee will begin voting Monday on the 1951 tax increase bill by which the administration once hoped to boost tax revenue by $10,000,000,000.

Most estimates among committee members on the size of the bill they expect to be approved ranged from $5,000,000,000 to $7,000,000,000.

The voting agreement was announced last night as the committee wound up three and a half weeks of closed door discussions.

Six Cities Bid For Conventions

Detroit Invites 1952 Party Rallies

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Six cities make their formal bids today to act as host to the Democrat and Republican national conventions next year. Subcommittees of both parties are meeting here to receive the offers.

Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit and Miami, Fla., have sent representatives to urge that they be accepted. Telegraphic invitations have arrived from San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Atlantic City, which had indicated interest, is reported to have withdrawn from the competition.

National committee officials said they expected all interested cities to seek both conventions. And there have been indications that the two parties want to hold their presidential ticket nominating meeting in the same city—as they did in 1944 and 1948—to cut costs.

The full national Republican committee will meet at Tulsa, Okla., May 11-12 to decide the date and place of the GOP convention. The full democratic committee will make its decision in late May or early June at a place yet to be selected.

Local businessmen usually contribute to a fund to help pay convention expenses, looking to convention crowds to stimulate trade.

The winner this time must guarantee from 8,000 to 10,000 hotel rooms as well as a spacious hall.

Blast Crumples Wall Of Dorm; 180 Girls Flee In Nightclothes

MARYVILLE, Mo. — (AP) — A natural gas tank blew up today near a college dormitory, crumpled one wall and sent 180 girls fleeing in nightgowns and pajamas.

"I thought a bomb had hit us," said Miss Sue Hood, 18-year-old coed, who sped barefoot out of the burning building onto the campus of Northwest Missouri State college just after midnight.

Thirty girls were injured or burned and 17 were detained in the hospital. The blast pitched one sheet of steel four blocks and shot flame hundreds of feet into the sky.

Seared In Sleep

J. W. Jones, president of the college, said most of the injured suffered flash burns. The blast blew in one end of the three-story brick building and smashed windows. The flaming blast seared the students as they slept.

Amie Meadows, a cook at the dormitory, was pinned under fallen masonry in her basement apartment. She was rescued by men students who turned out of their quarters in the warm night. Her injuries were slight.

The dormitory burst into flames and three other gas tanks started burning at valves and seams as they expanded with the heat. Nearby oil storage tanks added to the danger of more fire.

Windows Smashed

The explosion broke the water main leading to the dormitory, so firemen had to lay hose several blocks to reach the blaze.

The entire city of 7,000 population in northwestern Missouri was shaken by the blast, and the residents swarmed to the scene, hampering the firefighters.

Plate glass windows in the business district, nearly 10 blocks away, were broken by the concussion. Windows were smashed in most of the homes around the college.

Negotiators Return To Task Of Settling Detroit Transit Tieup

DETROIT — (AP) — Negotiators hopefully returned today to the task of settling Detroit's week-long transit strike.

Yesterday's long bargaining session did not produce an agreement in the knotty wage dispute idling 3,700 AFL streetcar and bus operators but apparently got the union and management representatives on more friendly terms.

"We believe we understand each other better," said Walter Stanley, union negotiator.

The drivers want an 8½-cent hourly pay increase. The city offers five cents.

Base pay is $1.67½. At issue also are fringe benefits which bring pay to $2.30 and pensions and insurance payments that raise it to $2.55.

George Lindenthal Is Witness Against Will; Says Norton Confused

John Norton appeared confused and bewildered in conferences concerning affairs at radio station WDBC, George Lindenthal, station manager, testified yesterday at the hearing in the Norton will contest.

Appearing as a witness for Mack and Charles and Thomas Norton, who seek to break John Norton's will, George Lindenthal said either he or his brother, Frank Lindenthal, gave personal assistance to Mr. and Mrs. Norton at their request.

George Lindenthal said that in the summer of 1949 he made several attempts to explain radio station business to John Norton, and kept Norton informed of the radio station expansion program.

First Worked For Press
John Norton died July 12, 1950, and following his death his will revealed that he had left legacies to his two brothers, Mack and Charles of Cassopolis, Mich., and to a nephew, Thomas, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Mack Norton was willed $10,000, Charles $5,000, and Thomas $5,000. Aside from those legacies and $100 to St. Joseph's church, the remainder of the estate was bequeathed to the Escanaba school district to establish a scholarship fund for worthy high school graduates as a memorial to John Norton's wife.

George Lindenthal, who first worked for the Escanaba Daily Press in 1935 and came to Escanaba for regular employment with the Press in 1936, said he was hired by John Norton.

Became Station Manager
Appearing as a witness in support of claims of contestants of the will that John Norton was mentally incompetent, George Lindenthal testified as to John Norton's appearance and activities before and after Norton suffered a stroke in 1945.

It is the claim of the contestants that Norton was not only mentally incompetent but also was subjected to undue influence and fraud. The Norton will was executed Jan. 5, 1950.

George Lindenthal testified that he became manager of radio station WDBC in 1947, and was hired for that position by John Norton and Frank Lindenthal.

There were "personal duties" for Mr. and Mrs. Norton over a period of years, ending in February, 1950, George Lindenthal testified.

Said "See Vandenberg"
Beginning in 1947, George Lindenthal said, the Delta Broadcasting company began preparing an application to the Federal Communications Commission for an increase in power and change in frequency of WDBC.

There was difficulty in obtaining favorable action on the application and it was not granted until the early summer of 1949. George Lindenthal said John Norton was informed of the work being done, he added.

Norton wanted consent of the FCC on the application and said "see Vandenberg," meaning the late Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, a personal friend of Norton's, George Lindenthal said.

Twice thereafter, when George informed Norton of progress in the application and when favorable action seemed near, Norton looked "bewildered" responded only with the words, "see Vandenberg."

Hat On Backwards
Another time when George Lindenthal reported progress on the station expansion, Norton did not reply, Lindenthal said.

In attending meetings of the Escanaba Rotary club in December 1949, and January 1950, Norton was taken to the Delta hotel by George or Frank Lindenthal and there assisted in seating himself at table. A napkin was put on

Tax Allocation Meeting May 1

To Study County And School Budgets

The Delta county tax allocation commission will receive county and school estimated budgets for the coming year and will study them at a meeting to be held in the court house at Escanaba at 7:30 p. m. May 1.

On the basis of budget requests and estimated revenue in local taxes the commission will at later meetings allocate millage to the schools, county and townships under the 15-mill tax limitation law.

The Escanaba city schools have already indicated their need for a higher millage rate than they received last year if school budget requirements are to be met.

The tax allocation commission comprises six members as follows: Helmer Skogquist, Gladstone, not affiliated with any of the county's political units; Robert C. Pryal, county treasurer; Supervisor C. W. Stoll of Escanaba, chairman of the county's finance committee; Supervisor Nevin Reynolds, city of Escanaba councilman; Hagle Quarstrom, county school superintendent; and C. Gust Peterson, member of the Escanaba board of education.

There is no change in the commission membership from last year.

Escanaba Girls Receive Honors

At a Michigan Normal college honors convocation at Ypsilanti this week, Patricia Lambert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Lambert, Route 1, and Marilyn Anderson, daughter of C. T. Anderson, 903 North 19th street, received special honors.

Both girls received recognition for building and maintaining a scholastic average of better than 2.25 of a possible 3.0 points.

Miss Lambert, who was graduated from Escanaba senior high school in '47, is a senior and is majoring in special education of the deaf. Miss Anderson, a freshman who graduated from senior high school in '50 is majoring in later elementary teaching.

Escanaba Student Honored At U. Of W.

Verna C. Decker, 322 S. 14th street, Escanaba, student at the University of Wisconsin, has been awarded sophomore honors for excellence of work in the State University's College of Letters and Science.

Associate Dean C. H. Ruedtli, in announcing the names of the 203 letters and science students who earned honors or high honors, pointed out that honors are awarded to those students who have earned a grade-point average of 2.25 in all residence courses at the end of the semester or term in which they have attained 58 residence credits, while high honors go to those earning an average of 2.75 grade points per credit of study taken. A grade point average of 3.00 would mean perfect grades in all studies.

Disburse $192,500 More In Mrs. Bonifas' Gifts

Checks totaling $192,500 to three residuary legatees of the estate of the late Mrs. Catherine Bonifas, Escanaba benefactress, have been issued by John A. Lemmer, executor of the estate, on an order secured from Delta county probate court, it was announced today.

The residuary legatees and the amount of each received from income and capital gains and corpus of the estate for fiscal year May 1, 1950, to April 30, 1951, are as follows:

Roman Catholic Bishop of the Diocese of Marquette, $80,500; Escanaba city school district $82,000; city of Escanaba $30,000.

With the recent disbursement to the three residuary legatees the total bequests by Mrs. Bonifas are as follows:

Roman Catholic Bishop of the Diocese of Marquette, $724,500 of a total $805,000; Escanaba city school district, $738,000 of a total $820,000; city of Escanaba, $270,000 of a total $300,000.

The total bequests to the three residuary is $1,925,000 of which $1,732,500 has been paid.

The balance of $192,500 is held in U. S. Treasury bills, and the final distribution awaits an audit by Haskins & Sells of Chicago.

In addition to the gifts to the three residuary legatees named above, Mrs. Bonifas willed $150,000 for a school at Garden. Of this total the state board of education has received $120,000 for the purpose of constructing the Catherine Bonifas school at Garden and the remaining $30,000 has yet to be disbursed.

Mrs. Catherine Bonifas, widow of William Bonifas, Escanaba lumberman, died May 25, 1948. In total the benefactions set forth in her will totaled nearly two and one-half million dollars, including $50,000 for scholarships for worthy graduates of Escanaba public and parochial schools.

Delta Cancer Fund Growing

Report Over $1,000 In Escanaba City

Contributions to Delta county's "fight cancer" fund today stood at more than $1,000 as the drive toward the $3,000 goal continues, according to Atty. Harlan J. Yeland, county campaign chairman.

House-to-house solicitation has been completed in some zones in the city of Escanaba and a total of about $1,000 has been raised so far, it is reported by Atty. William E. Anderson, city drive chairman.

The campaign is sponsored by the Delta County Cancer Society, affiliated with the Michigan division of the American Cancer Society.

At the state level it is reported that 32 of Michigan's 83 counties have received contributions to the Cancer Society totaling nearly $100,000.

The National goal is $14,556,000 to carry on a program of research, education and service to cancer patients.

The Rev. James G. Ward, who recently returned with Mrs. Ward from a two-months' Mediterranean cruise, will speak on his visit to the Holy Land at the 10:45 Morning Prayer service at St. Stephen's Episcopal church tomorrow.

The Holy Land was one of several places visited by the couple during the cruise. The cruise ship Britannic of the Cunard line stopped at 22 ports where passengers disembarked for inland tours extending from two to five days.

The former rector, who retired February 1 after serving St. Stephen's for 13 years, also will describe some of the other places visited, including approximately 25 cathedrals in the different countries included in the Mediterranean cruise. The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Ward returned on the Queen Mary, disembarking in New York City last week.

British Warned About Putting Heat On Iran

Russia May Move In, U. S. Officials Say
By The World Staff Of The Associated Press

WASHINGTON—The state department has indirectly cautioned the British against getting too close with Iran. Some top officials fear the British might land marines there to evacuate Britishers who work for the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. in case violence increases in the strike-torn area. They are reported to have dusted off a stand-by evacuation plan.

American officials fear the Russians might move into northern Iran of such a landing took place, using as an excuse the 1921 friendship treaty with Iran which allows the Soviets to march in if Iran is being used as a base for possible aggression against the U. S. S. R.

TOO TOUGH?
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Wasn't the dismissal of MacArthur unnecessarily abrupt? is a question that has been often asked in the past week or so, even by persons who felt he ought somehow to have been relieved.

A comment on this question, by a person who ought to know a lot that goes on in the White House, was: "I don't believe any consideration was given to handling the dismissal otherwise than the way it was done. If MacArthur had first been brought home, ostensibly for consultation, and then relieved of his command, the assumption would have been that the views of the president and the general were reconcilable. Then there wouldn't have been any reason to fire him."

UNLUCKY FLIP
WASHINGTON—(AP)—A flip of a coin months ago helped give the Democrats their chance to bump Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) off the Senate appropriations subcommittee which deals with state department funds. McCarthy, day and night critic of Secretary of State Acheson, and Senator Ecton (R-Mont.) both were assigned to the committee the same day. Since both entered the Senate at the same time, they flipped to decide which would be senior to the other on the committee. McCarthy lost. As the Democrats have now achieved a 50 to 46 margin in the Senate, they are entitled to kick out the junior Republican committeeman—McCarthy.

INDIA'S WHEAT
WASHINGTON—(AP)—If India is fed, some other countries might have to tighten their belt. The export of about 75,000,000 bushels of wheat to India, as recommended by the president, would create a shortage if there should be unfavourable weather and crop destruction from insects and plant diseases. The agriculture department then might have to use its authority under the defense legislation to restrict wheat exports to other countries in the last half of this year and the first half of next year.

Most of the wheat exports now are going to Germany, occupied areas in the Pacific and to Europe, particularly the countries receiving Marshall plan aid.

SPORTS AND THE LAW
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Don't look for the justice department to take anti-trust action soon in connection with broadcasting and television big-time sports. There have been rumors that the restrictive nature of the contracts would bring action under the anti-trust laws. The National Collegiate Athletic association, for example, expects to limit its television programs next fall so that no football fan will have more than one game to look at on any Saturday. But the government legal experts, according to best information here, hope to settle all the arguments by conference and negotiation.

Publishers predict thousands of copies of his book will be sold because of Bevan's inside view of the British Socialist experiment.

Labor Supply Shrinking Here

Employment Office Reports Openings

Information today from Whitney R. Dixon, manager of the Escanaba office of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation commission, revealed that the supply of available labor is rapidly shrinking.

Although there are still 404 individuals registered as unemployed in Delta and Schoolcraft counties, they do not possess the skills, semi-skills or background desired. It is expected that the small supply of unskilled labor both male and female in the two counties will disappear by July 1 and there will be a very tight labor supply in all skilled, semi-skilled and unskilled occupations.

The local office has unfilled openings for two sales persons, farm machinery; a sales person, hardware; a window trimmer; a farm hand; 15 post peelers; a roofer; two routemen; a delivery boy, a station attendant and eight tree planters. Openings for females in the area include: two stenographers, a housekeeper, two maids, a child monitor, a waitress and a charwoman.

Any unemployed individual, or any of those not now in the labor market, looking for work and interested in the above jobs, are requested to contact the local office of the MUCC, 1323 Ludington street, Escanaba, as soon as possible.

Any unemployed individuals who previously registered at the office but have not been in for some time, are reminded that they must report at least every 30 days in order to keep their applications active. By keeping the application for work active, it will enable the local office to consider the applicant continuously over a long period for job openings for which he is qualified. If an applicant for work does not report at least every 30 days, his card is inactivated and is not exposed to current job openings.

The Escanaba office of the MUCC is open Monday through Friday, 8:15 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., and conducts itinerant service according to the following schedule and applicants are requested to report at the points at the time indicated on the schedule: Gladstone, Tuesdays from 10 a. m. to 11 a. m. at the city hall; Rapid River, Wednesdays, from 10 a. m. to 11 a. m., at the fire hall; and Manistique, Thursdays, from 10:30 a. m. to 1 p. m., at the Hotel Ossawinamakee.

St. Anthony's parish at Wells is making plans for another picnic to be held at the Pioneer Trail Park July 4. Co-chairmen for the event will be Victor Groos and Mrs. James Anderson. A joint meeting of the Guild and the Holy Name men will be held in the Township hall Thursday, May 17. At this meeting, ideas will be exchanged and plans discussed.

Temperance Lecturer To Speak Here Monday

Rev. Sam Morris, regarded as America's greatest temperance speaker, will speak at a public meeting to be held at the Central Methodist church in Escanaba at 1:45 Monday afternoon.

He will be accompanied by Rev. E. C. Prettyman, executive secretary of the Michigan Temperance Foundation.

Morris is making his first trip to the Upper Peninsula. He has been addressing temperance and religious groups all over the country.

Prettyman was engaged in temperance work in Connecticut, Maryland and Delaware before coming to Michigan about ten years ago. He has been very successful in promoting temperance sentiment in the state. His high school alcohol education program is reaching on an average of 1,500 or more students weekly.

Nahma Workers Told Of Plans

Trying Hard To Get Industry, Says Good

Employees of the Bay de Noquet company were told by Charles E. Good, president, in a bulletin posted at the plant, that every possible effort is being made to attract a new industry to Nahma.

The bulletin referred to a junket by writers and photographers to Nahma recently. Since then, the story of Nahma, an "entire town for sale," has been carried by newspapers and radio all over the country.

"We have other plans, too, for Nahma," President Good stated. "They're ephemeral, but they are in the making. We will welcome ideas to help put a program through and to keep Nahma and its traditions for those of you who have their roots here and want to stay here."

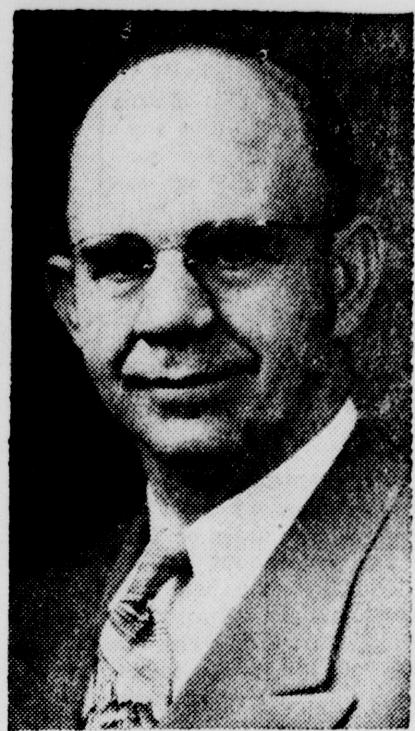

"This has been my dream and ambition for years and I will be greatly disappointed and disillusioned if the realization of these hopes fails to materialize. You have been faithful and conscientious in our many years of association. This fact I appreciate and my ambition is to preserve the community with a continuing form of Americanism."

DePas Barn, Cabins Destroyed By Fire

THOMPSON — Fire, believed caused by defective wiring, destroyed the barn and three cabin unit at the Urla De Pas farm home Thursday afternoon.

The flames whipped by a strong wind had such headway when the fire was noticed that little could be done in the way of saving anything. The cabin units were being occupied at the time.

The Manistique fire department was called but the buildings were in embers before it could reach the site. Chemicals and water were used to save the house and halt the spread of grass fires.

The farm formerly was the Herro place but was sold six years ago to the DePas', members of a colored religious cult.

The buildings are covered by insurance.

Dock Workers May Walk Out

Duluth And Superior Have Labor Dispute

DULUTH, Minn.—(AP)—Coal dock workers at seven companies at Duluth and Superior, Wis., are threatening to go on strike May 12 in a dispute over new contract clauses, including wages and hours.

About 350 members of coal dock workers union 1328 (AF) are involved. They filed strike notice April 5 against Northwestern Hanna Fuel Co., Carnegie Fuel and Dock Co., Inland Coal and Dock Co., Interlake Iron Corp., and Cleveland Cliffs Coal Co., all of Duluth; Berwind Fuel Co., Superior, Wis., and C. Reiss Coal Co., of Duluth, Superior and Sheboygan, Wis.

On April 12, Gov. Luther W. Youngdahl of Minnesota invoked the "public interest" clause of the state labor relation act, automatically staying the strike for 3 days. After May 12 a strike can be called in Minnesota if there is no agreement.

Harry Hanson, Minnesota labor conciliator, said tentative agreement has been reached on all contract provisions except wages. A meeting to discuss wages will be held Monday.

The present contract calls for a wage range of $1.25 to $1.56 an hour. The union did not set a

Business Firms Are Inspected

Hazards Of Fire Being Checked

There have been 103 inspections of business places for fire hazards this spring, the local fire department has announced. Inspections will continue until all business places have been inspected.

Wherever fire hazards are discovered, checks are made by the firemen to determine whether corrective measures have been taken. Only five checks have been necessary thus far, however.

The danger of a conflagration is greater at this time of the year than in any other season. Fire Captains Schraeder and Bergeson said in calling for support of the spring clean-up drive now being conducted in Escanaba.

One reason for this is that the warm sun and high winds make flammable roofs especially vulnerable, explained the officials. There is always the danger that the winds will carry sparks from a dirty chimney or a burning rubbish pile to a dried-out roof top, starting a fire which could spread rapidly from one building to another.

They urged Escanaba residents to get rid of such hazards by cleaning dirty chimneys, replacing worn, dried out roofs with asphalt shingles or other fire-resistant materials such as asbestos or slate.

The Captain said records compiled by the National Fire Protection Association—sponsors of the Spring Clean-Up campaign throughout the nation—show that 90 percent of all fires can be traced to common hazards around homes and business places.

National Advertisers Favor Newspapers By Heavy Margin

IRWIN MAIER, publisher of the Milwaukee Journal of chairman of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, reported to American publishers in their New York convention this week that national advertisers spent practically a half billion dollars in newspaper space last year.

The expenditure of $499,019,000 in newspaper space for national advertising last year was an all-time high, and exceeded the previous record year of 1949 by 12.1%.

Supplementing the report of Mr. Maier to the newspaper publishers was the report of Harold S. Barnes, director of the Bureau of Advertising.

"A newspaper covers its community more thoroughly than any advertising medium that has been invented yet," he said, "and because of that, newspaper advertising will reach more people and sell more merchandise for less money than any medium that has yet come along."

The figures on advertising purchases by national advertisers for 1950, made public at the publishers' convention, are extremely favorable to newspapers. They show that newspapers are doing a good selling job of the nation's merchandise so that more products are available to more people at lowest possible costs under our free enterprise system.

Dog Problem Is Here Again

BEGINNING Tuesday, May 1, and continuing through the summer months, dog owners are required to keep their dogs confined to the owners' premises or on leash and under control when not on the owners' premises.

The dog problem during the gardening season has long been a major one in Escanaba, as in practically every other city in the state. Dogs running at large cause considerable damage to gardens, shrubbery, etc., and in addition these dogs are a menace to children.

For years the city tried to control the problem by appointing dogcatchers to round up the stray dogs and impound them. This didn't work too well because the small, friendly dogs would walk into the dogcatcher's net but the big, ugly dogs, fast foot and wary, could outrun any man wearing a big net.

The last two years the city police department tried a different approach. The cops abandoned the dog catching nets and issued tickets instead to dog owners on charges of permitting their animals to run at large in violation of the ordinance. The owners were brought into justice court and fined. This system, while far from perfect, was a distinct improvement over the former one and much less expensive, too, because it eliminated the necessity of maintaining a dog pound. Its main weakness is in the fact that it is not always possible to determine the ownership of dogs at large.

There simply is no easy, surefire approach to the nuisance of dogs at large in the summer months but the problem can be minimized if dog owners cooperate. Keep your dog tied up.

Seaway Is Important To National Defense

THE statements of Walter Harnischfeger, Milwaukee industrialist and chairman of the national affairs committee of the Milwaukee Association of Commerce before the House public works committee regarding the St. Lawrence seaway project have set off quite a tempest in Milwaukee and in Great Lakes states.

Harnischfeger testified that the Milwaukee A. of C. is opposed to immediate construction of the navigation project but approves the project in principle to be constructed in times of adverse economic conditions. The industrialist pointed out that the association is fighting for reduced federal expenditures and does not believe that this is a proper time to put the money, labor and materials into the seaway project. In effect, Harnischfeger discounted the contention that the seaway is a project important to the country's national defense.

The testimony of the Milwaukee industrialist has been regarded as damaging to the seaway cause. Governor Kohler of Wisconsin, himself an industrialist, and Mayor Keidler of Milwaukee promptly sent telegrams to the House committee supporting the immediate construction of the navigation and power project.

It is unfortunate, of course, that the Milwaukee Association of Commerce has taken a position on the seaway that is contrary to that being supported by virtually all other commerce groups in the cities of the Great Lakes states.

The seaway project is of vital importance not only to the Great Lakes area but to the entire country and particularly now when the threat of war hangs over the world.

Q—What is the origin of the expression to make one "the goat"?

A—It comes from the word scapegoat. Under Biblical law the sins of the people were placed upon the head of a goat, which was then permitted to escape into the wilderness, thus absolving the people from their wrongdoing.

Q—What percentage of World War II wounded survived?

A—More than 97 per cent. Resources of blood plasma played a big part in the life-saving.

Math Shark

"Twas in higher mathematics that McGinley like to shine, and he also liked to brag he was an expert in design. He professed to be a carpenter who knew his two-by-fours, and could figure any problem posed by windows, roofs and doors. So his wife, when making draperies, solicited his aid, and McGinley said at once those drapes were just as good as made.

What his wife would have him tell her was how many pleats to make, in proportion to the window width and what the rod would take, being mindful that, when drawn by strings, the edge must overlap, so that light could not come pouring through an undesired gap. Then McGinley said 'twas simple and he made a pattern quick, but his figures proved him just a flop at fine arithmetic.

For his wife worked long and hard before she tried the drapes or style, when she quickly learned McGinley's plan had missed it by a mile. And she things she said about him, while removing every thread, beat a very sharp stab to McGinley's aching head. In the future, she's decided, she will plan her sewing chores, and McGinley swears hereafter he will stick to two-by-fours.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Congressman Brehm's attorney, in defending him from the charge of taking kickbacks, has accused Jack Anderson of my staff of intimidating Mrs. Emma Craven, one of the congressman's secretaries.

Brehm's defense attorney also claims that the congressman did not know anything about the kickbacks of another secretary, Mrs. Clara Soliday, until my assistant raised the kickback question with Mrs. Craven.

The incident is important, because it shows that certain people are a long way from the truth. It also goes to the root fact that money paid to congressmen for the salaries of stenographers is supposed to be paid to the ladies themselves, not go into congressmen's pockets or political campaign chests.

Here is exactly what happened: In January, 1950, Mr. Anderson of my staff did call at my direction at the home of Mrs. Emma Craven to ask her about salary kickbacks which we heard she had paid to the GOP congressman from Ohio. The interview was cordial. Mr. Anderson appealed to Mrs. Craven's conscience to tell the truth, pointing out that kickbacks were against the law, that we had part of the story, and would like her help in substantiating all the facts.

However, Mrs. Craven flatly stated that she had paid no money back to the congressman. In other words, she lied. For, on the witness stand this week, she stated just the opposite, admitting that she kicked back part of her salary to Brehm.

CONGRESSMAN STORMS

During Anderson's interview with Mrs. Craven she went into the kitchen on the pretense of getting some refreshments and while there apparently telephoned the congressman. Shortly thereafter he came bursting in the door. At first he pretended merely to have been in the neighborhood and dropped in by accident. But he was too agitated to keep up the pretense.

For he literally exploded. What did Anderson mean, he stormed, by snooping into his affairs? Didn't he know that he was a righteous, honest member of Congress?

Brehm was so worked up that he shouted at Anderson for about five minutes. Innocent men incidentally do not usually storm. Finally, when Brehm subsided, and Anderson was able to get in a word edgewise, he told the congressman from Ohio that if he was as innocent as he said he was, obviously there was nothing to worry about. But Congressman Parnell Thomas also had protested his innocence when we exposed his kickbacks—only to land in jail.

"Those who shout the loudest sometimes turn out to be the most guilty," Anderson remarked, and left.

Anderson reported the whole incident to me next day and expressed his opinion that Brehm was lying. However, it took about nine months more to develop all the facts regarding Brehm's kickbacks so that they were libel-proof and I could risk publication. Even then, after publication of the first story on Sept. 26, 1950, Brehm threatened to sue and called me a liar.

However, the interesting thing is that the congressman now claims he did not know about the kickbacks until Anderson called on Mrs. Craven in January 1950. His wife, his attorney explains, overheard a telephone conversation between her husband and Mrs. Craven that night and confessed to him that she had also been receiving some kickback money from Mrs. Soliday, the other secretary.

Chief trouble with this alibi is the way the congressman came storming around to Mrs. Craven's home that night, worried sick over the questions my assistant was asking her.

RUSSIAN SUBMARINES

A grim warning has reached the Pentagon that the Communists may be preparing to throw a Sunday punch at American forces in Korea, including an air and submarine attack. It has long been known that the Russians had 60 to 75 submarines in Siberian-Korean waters, plus at least 2,000 airplanes. And fear that they might be thrown into battle is one of the big reasons why the joint chiefs of staff have hesitated about bombing Chinese bases.

Should Russian subs and airplanes now be used, therefore, it might end the MacArthur debate before it starts, and embroil the United States in the all-out war in Asia that MacArthur wants.

Latest Pentagon report is that the Communists may throw 650 planes and 70 submarines into the Korean war. The planes are already standing by on Manchurian airstrips, and the submarines have been making mysterious moves along the China coast. Meanwhile, the Communists have been repairing North Korean air fields as fast as American planes can hammer them.

Into The Past

It Sure Gets Around

Nick Carter, Diamond Dick And Others Once Lowly Dime Novels Rise In Power

By HERBERT H. HOLLANDER

"Who will save her?"
"I will!"
"Who are you?"
"Hawshaw, the detective!"
"Curses!! Foiled again!"

Ah, those were the good old days. And do you remember Nick Carter, Diamond Dick, Old Sleuth, Young King Brady, Frank Reade, Bowery Billy, Frank Merriwell, the Liberty Bells and others of that host of heroes of yesterday's paperback fiction?

Did you ever sneak up into the hayloft or the attic to revel in their fabulous deeds of heroism?

If you are over forty-five you almost certainly did, and if you aren't you surely have heard of the dime novel eulogized by your dad with a genuine nostalgic touch in his voice. For him the suave whodunits of today just haven't the same thrill.

Nick Carter Criticized

Once upon a time Nick Carter and the rest were considered by careful parents to be a corrupting influence upon the taste as well as the morale of the youth of the land. But today the dime novel is a collector's item, and the Federal Government itself possesses the largest and finest collection extant of the lurid tales which quickened the pulse and widened the eyes of millions of boys who now are men.

In the Library of Congress in Washington, in its rare book division no less, the whole swash-buckling crew rests in honored glory. And if you are looking for escapist literature to lighten the tension of these trying days, here's your dish and no mistake.

Full-blooded Americana is the library's amazing array of yellow-back novels and completely illustrative of the vast tonnage of literature consumed so avidly by the youth of a generation and more ago.

Surely you remember some of the titles: Deadwood Dick on Deck, or Calamity Jane, The Heroine of Whooop-Up; Queen Myra; Pioneer Hunters of Kentucky; That Mysterious Affair, or Chick's Wonderful Twelve Hours Work; Rags to Riches; The Fight at Death Ranch; Bowery Billy's Runabout Race; The Amazing Adventures at Death Gulch; There's Gold at Poverty Canyon; The Terrible Thirteen; The Strange Case of Mother Harrigan; and literally thousands more.

In the Old Sleuths and Young and Old King Bradys, Nick and Chick Carters, Deadwood Dicks, Buffalo Bills and the others one can see the G-Men, Dick Tracey's, Dan Dunns, Don Winslows of today.

Read Behind Barn

Uncle Sam knows these crumbly, cheaply-printed volumes and sheets he is treasuring weren't considered just the proper thing back when grandfather rode a high wheel bicycle.

He knows as well as you do that most of them were read behind a barn, or up a city alley, or behind a sheltering geography. But what of it? This collection is a lusty foot note to the history of American life as it was lived forty-five and more years ago. It is part and parcel of the story of our national life. More than that, it is a vivid page out of the memory books of millions of Americans living today.

Who can forget the feel of those brittle pulp pages, the acid smell of cheap ink, the saffron of the covers, the fine, eye-destroying type? What older who pored over them breathlessly as a youngster will ever forget the resourcefulness of Nick and the courage of Chick, the tenacity of the Bradys, the unerring aim of Buffalo Bill, the audacity of Diamond Dick, the uprightness of the Merriwells, and the unsullied honesty of Alger's bootblack who always became prosperous and married the banker's daughter?

It is because publishers of this fiction submitted copies for copyright purposes that the Library of Congress has the collection. To alert librarians goes the credit for realizing the real importance of these items, rescuing them from obscurity, and placing them on display. For years thousands of them were stored in bales in the basement of the library.

One learns that a man named Beadle is the father of the yellow-back novel and the term "yellow journalism" came into general use when this gentleman bound his history-making volumes in paper of that color.

Beadle found a ready market for his product. Such a good one, indeed, that he set up in business in competition to himself under the name of Frank Starr, putting out the same type of literature but in different format.

Then with both Beadle and "Starr" doing well, George Munro, one of Beadle's writers, quit and began his own business on a shoe-string. Quitting Beadle because the latter wouldn't give him a raise in salary, Munro eventually died worth about $10,000,000. Which gives a rough idea of the vast quantity of dime novels sold.

And speaking of "dime" novels, we've cleared up one of the really great mysteries of life; namely, why a dime novel usually cost just a nickel. About sixty years ago half-dimes were coined and most of the dime novels were really half-dime novels. The half-dime was succeeded by the nickel of today.

And now to get back to Nick Carter in Boston, or The Jewel Robbery:

The terrorized screams of a woman broke the stillness of the night. The flash of a dagger in the moonlight. Then two shots in rapid succession. Nick Carter to the rescue!

Manchuria Has Airfields For Reds' Plane Build-Up

What lies behind North Korea's border with Manchuria, along which U. S. and Red planes have been clashing in the biggest jet battles of aviation history?

From the borders of Soviet Siberia southwest in a mighty arc across Manchuria and around the Yellow Sea, the National Geographic Society says, lie more major airfields than in all the rest of China put together.

Mao Tse-tung's so-called "privileged sanctuary" is criss-crossed with runways laid down by Japan's Kwantung Army in long years when the banners of the Rising Sun floated over puppet Manchukuo. What condition these fields might be in to receive a reported 3,000-plane build-up of Chinese air power is uncertain.

But for months indications have come from Korea that Red China is hard at work improving such bases and building new airfields in Manchuria. Events have made plain that at least some of these installations are operational for jet aircraft.

Mountain Curtain

North Korea's airfields—what few the Japanese built among the tumbled mountains—have been pounded by United Nations planes since the Korean fighting began.

North of the ridges which pile to 8,000-foot peaks along the Manchurian border, however, is the flat, broad valley of the Sun-gari River, one of the richest agricultural areas on earth, rising gradually to the treeless plateau of western Manchuria.

Westward across the Yellow Sea from Korea and south of China's Great Wall stretches another plain along the East China coast, through which wander the Yellow and Yangtze Rivers. There, too, the Shantung peninsula points like an outstretched tongue straight at Korea, closer to Seoul than any U. S. airfield in Japan.

A new National Geographic Society map of Asia, published in March, shows principal airports at 26 Manchurian and Chinese cities, all of which are closer to the heart of Korea than Tokyo. Among them are Shanghai, Nanking, Tsingtao, Tientsin and Peiping itself.

At the end of World War II, there were more than 40 military airfields in Manchuria alone. Eleven were classed as medium bomber bases, 13 were suitable for fighters, 17 more were unsuited. The north coastal plain of China had 22 military air bases, including two capable of handling heavy bombers.

Gauntlet With a Red Star

Shenyang, or Mukden, ancient capital of the Manchu lords, has five wartime fighter airfields and one bomber base surrounding it like a gauntlet. To the north-east, Pingliang (Harbin) has four airfields. Antung, at the mouth of the Yalu, and Sinuiju across the river inside North Korea, have twin airfields. Changchun, Muktankiang, Linkow, Tungliang and Kailu are other Manchurian cities with air installations within 500 miles of the 38th parallel.

To the southwest, inland from the Gulf of Liaoting, are air bases at Ancian, Chengteh and Chihfeng, as well as many fields along the shore. On Liaoting Peninsula, 300 miles from Seoul, are the Russian-controlled cities of Dairen and Port Arthur, both with military airfields.

Encircling northern Manchuria, Russia proper has a chain of ten or more major airfields from Chita to Vladivostok has hangars and repair shops hollowed into the hills which guard its airfields.

Sheep, like cattle, have four stomachs, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

SPRING RAIN—If you have anything to worry about, save it for a rainy evening in springtime and then take a walk with your worries.

There are no leaves to break the down-coming rain as in summertime, and you have to walk a little slanted to the rain to keep the drops from hitting you in the eye. The wet sidewalks reflect the street lamps. People hurry in passing, not slowing to talk about the weather.

It's a good night for musing about capital punishment, of executions, and war.

IN MANY WAYS—Whether you call them aggressors on the international scene or murderers on the home front, lives are being taken in violation of all human laws. Here in Michigan the legislature is stewing about the death penalty or life in prison for murderers.

It is small consolation to the murdered, whatever course is followed. The dead are a long time dead and they die in many ways.

To some death comes peacefully in the rainy night of spring; others die painfully and alone on the field of battle.

COST AND CONSEQUENCE—In Michigan life is held most dear and even the convicted murderer escapes the old law of an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth.

Crimes of violence are not new, laws of justice to protect the weak have existed for ten thousand years, and murder has been punishable by death for many centuries.

We are a civilized people in Michigan. We do not put the murderer to death for his crime against the individual or against society.

Rather we say, in Michigan, let the murderer beware or he will be placed in an institution. He will be punished by exposure to other criminals and to his own conscience for the remainder of his life—or until he is released on good behavior.

INTERNATIONAL CRIME—The State of Michigan will not indulge in the savagery of revenge upon the life of him who took a life. That is the legal code.

But in all levels of our society, from the local to the state and the national and international, we consider death punishment for these who threaten our national security, and the security of our allies.

This consideration is one of necessity unstirred by emotional twinges. War is inevitable. Death is the retribution.

Massed armies create mass murder and there is no individual stigma upon any one. The murderer in Michigan escapes death. The Chinese Communist must be killed.

THE HARD ROAD—Organized crime must be stamped out—but in Michigan individual criminals who kill may not be killed.

It is a hard road to follow in these days. Questions of personal conscience are pitted against the hard facts of patriotism, duty, and self-preservation.

Give the people a war to fight and they become hardened in sensibilities to the death of the individual enemy; give them a question of capital punishment by the state and they become soft and sentimental and sympathetic to the individual murderer.

Murder is an accomplished fact only with premeditated killing, sometimes accomplished by violence. Yet war is not murder. It is courageous and thrilling and heroic.

WITHOUT CLARITY—There is a darkness in the world that obscures the truth. The peoples of the world see each other only through a fog of doubt and misunderstanding and suspicion.

It is like this rainy spring night when folks pass you on the street, hurrying their own way, without speaking. In the light of day they would look up and smile, and perhaps speak in recognition. So it is in walking through the rain on this evening in spring you think of what might be if the world were free of doubt, and if there were no war, no crime or punishment.

And coming to your house, where lights shine through the windows and inside is warmth and love and understanding, you forget the rain and night and doubt. For here are the things that each man holds most dear—and to protect will fight and kill and die.

SATURDAY ROLL CALL

Houston: I would like to know the origin of the word larrapin. Can you tell me?—L. S.

Answer: The origin of larrapin, a slang word meaning "superior," is uncertain. It has been suggested that it probably is connected with larrakin, an Australian word meaning "a rowdy street loafer; a noisy, ill-bred fellow."

Yucaipa: To say a person is "on a binge" is readily understood, but I do not find it in any of my dictionaries. I would like to know the origin, and exactly what it means. Do you know?—L. M.

Answer: Webster's New International lists binge, meaning "carousal; a spree," as slang. Just how it started is still obscure, so far as I have been able to learn.

Los Angeles: We are among the "ad-dicts" of your column. What we want to know is the pedigree of the Charley in "Charley horse," and what his relation is to a kink in a muscle.—Mrs. S. M. J.

Answer: Charley horse is a baseball term. H. L. Mencken, The American Language, Supplement II, quotes Dr. Clendenning: "Charley horse is a ruptured muscle. It has exactly the same pathology as string-halt in a horse." One theory is that it came from the name Charley Esper, a left-handed pitcher, who walked like a lame horse. Another, that it was suggested by a horse worked by a man named Charley, in Sioux City.

Shirley Baker,
Joseph Decker
Exchange Vows

Standards of mixed gladiolus, iris and snapdragons adorned the altars of St. Patrick's church for the wedding this morning of Miss Shirley Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Baker of 513 South Thirteenth street, and Joseph Decker of Chicago.

The Very Rev. Martin B. Melican who was celebrant of the 9 o'clock wedding mass, solemnized the service.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a ballerina length gown of white sheer nylon with a vevray spray pattern and a sheer pyramid coat with elbow sleeves and embroidered cuffs. Her veil of tulle was attached to a headdress of tulle and rose pointed lace. She carried a bouquet of white flowers centered with red roses. Miss Verna Decker, sister of the bridegroom, her bridesmaid, wore an identical gown of nile green with a headdress of sweetpeas and snapdragons and her bouquet was centered with yellow roses. Barbara Moberg, a niece of the bride, who was flower girl, wore a floor length frock of yellow nylon with a headdress of white flowers and she carried a basket of pastel blossoms.

Student Choir

The bridegroom, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Decker of 322 South Fourteenth street, Escanaba, had Edward Baker, the bride's brother, as his best man. Ushering the guests to their places were Gerald Baker and Jack Moberg.

Mrs. Baker selected a navy suit with white accessories and a red rose corsage for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Decker wore a brown silk crepe ensemble with green accessories and yellow roses formed her shoulder bouquet.

St. Patrick's student choir under the direction of the Sisters of St. Dominic sang Missa Brevis St. Antonio de Padua. The processional was by Renard and the offertory hymn was "Ave Maria" by Sister Desnise, O. P. At the close of the service Mrs. Arthur Olson sang "On This Day O Beautiful Mother."

Breakfast and Reception

The wedding breakfast for 25 guests was served at the Dells and the bride's parents are giving the reception at their home this afternoon. Centering the reception table is the tiered wedding cake flanked by tapers and spring flowers in yellow and white. Presiding at the punch bowl are Miss Nancy Dietrich, Miss Joyce Callari and Miss Mary Couillard.

The newlyweds, whose honeymoon destination is unannounced, will live in Chicago. The bride, who is an Escanaba high school graduate, has been employed by the Escanaba Paper Company. Mr. Decker, a veteran of four and one-half years service in the U. S. Air Force, attended Northwestern university and received his degree from the University of Wisconsin. He now is with the Cereal By-Products Company of Chicago.

The wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. Pat Foye and son, Mike, of Cheboygan, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Emil Berg, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schreiner and children, Susan and Dennis, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gezo, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Boone, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gilbert and Mr. and Mrs. Keith McDonald of Milwaukee.

Ladies' Night At Brotherhood Meeting

The Brotherhood of Bethany church will hold a Ladies' Night meeting Monday evening at 7:30 at the church. A film, "A Turn in the Road," will be shown. Conrad Finstrom is program chairman, Tony Holmes is general chairman and the committee includes Nels Nelson, Harold Bolm, Willard Jackson, Chris Sealander and Wilbert Lindstrom.

Opinion Divided
On Miss Truman
As Radio Actress

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Comment on Margaret Truman's debut as a radio actress today ranged from glowing praise by her co-star and director to lukewarm reviews in the press.

One listener offered immediate approval of Miss Truman's dramatic performance. That was President Truman. After talking with him on the telephone following the broadcast she told reporters her father "enjoyed it." She added "you'll have to ask him" about what he thought of her abilities as an actress.

Miss Truman starred last night in a radio version of the film "Jackpot," playing the wife of James Stewart and mother of two children. It is a comedy about the troubles of a family which wins the jackpot on a give-away program. Press comment was divided on her performance.

Jack Hellman of Daily Variety, Hollywood trade publication, said her performance was "somewhat more than adequate and somewhat less than competent. She shows wholesome promise. . . . If she had a choice of careers she should favor acting over singing."

Zuma Palmer of the Hollywood Citizen-News said Miss Truman gave a creditable first performance. Walter Ames of the Los Angeles Times said she gave "a satisfactory performance but not an outstanding one."

Hal Humphrey of the Los Angeles Mirror commented "if you hadn't known it was Margaret Truman, you would have thought it was a commendable job."

One Panning

Only one radio editor, Dan Jenkins of the Hollywood Reporter, gave her an outright panning. He said "Miss Truman has put a good deal of time and effort into training her singing voice. If she intends to become a dramatic actress, she can hardly expect to make the grade without at least an equal amount of dramatic training."

Miss Truman's fellow workers on the broadcast were much more complimentary. Co-star James Stewart predicted she could have a future as an actress. "The girl is good," he remarked. "She came through perfectly. She has a great amount of ease and that means a lot in acting."

Director Bill Carr said he was "happily surprised by her work."

He remarked that she performed as ably "as any of our first line actresses and better than some of them. And we have had the best on this show. (The Screen Directors Guild Playhouse)"

Miss Truman, who didn't miss a line on the show, told reporters she wasn't nervous during the broadcast.

"We had been rehearsing all day and so I didn't have time to get nervous," she declared. "I had some nerves just before the show started. But they went away."

"A Wonderful Time"
NBC officials observed that she went through the show like a seasoned performer. Attired in a stylish black decollete cocktail dress, she assumed her place confidently at the microphone, where she remained for most of the hour-long show. Her manner was expressive and she reacted with facial expressions and gestures.

Miss Truman, who received a reported $2,500 for the role, said she enjoyed the experience thoroughly.

LUDINGTON
BUY-LINES

by Sue Donimus

A CHINA base makes news whether it's in Formosa or Eden's Gift Shop. The china base of an extraordinarily handsome table lamp at Eden's is decorated in two shades of blue to match the trim on the white silk shade. The whole lamp is simply huge—standing 39 inches tall—so it's hardly a base suggestion when I say you'd better see it! Rope is twined around another unusual lamp, with a monks cloth shade in simple harmony. And you're simply off your base if you don't admire the leather lamps in luscious shades of red, white, wine etc. Lamps with a singing base at Eden's!

A WOMAN can be mighty sweet when she wants! If I've been mighty sweet at home lately it's because I want Modernfold Doors. It shouldn't be very hard to convince friend husband that this is the answer to that space problem at our house. Smart decorator colors in heavy plastic fabrics cover the accoridian folding doors. No more swing doors taking up needed wall space! Erickson Millwork can show you loads of ideas for using Modernfolds in your new home, or in modernizing your old one. Hope hubby sees this want ad—'cause I want Modernfolds!

HUMPTY DUMPTY was born twenty years too soon! Maybe all the king's horses and all the king's men couldn't put him back together again, but Ted's Fix-it Shop would find it a snap. You'll fall for the efficient repair service at Ted's—he can put anything together again including broken furniture, electrical equipment, stoves, toys, and you-name-it! See Ted in his shop behind Eden's Gift Shop!

At most weddings the bride is given away and the groom is sold! Both bride and groom will be sold on their silverware if they have chosen the new Wallace Sterling, Romance of the Sea. It's been greeted with waves of enthusiasm in the big cities. Should be Romance of the SEE, because to see it, is to love it. Graceful, lovely to handle, and in the finest Wallace Sterling tradition. Blomstrom and Petersen also offer a new silver plate pattern—May Queen by Holmes and Edwards. Only $8.06 for a complete place setting. You'll be a silver-tongued orator once you've seen Blomstrom & Petersen's huge silver supply!

HOPE you're not like the fellow who sowed wild oats all week and then on Sunday prayed for a crop failure! I want to plant a little seed with you housewives about ways in which the Escanaba Steam Laundry can help you with your spring cleaning. Heavy slip covers and draperies to be washed or dry cleaned are finished up at the ESL just beautifully. Or the week you are really attacking the house, let them do the weekly laundry. It's a habit worth cultivating, and once you've seen the sparkling clean results, it's one that will grow on you!

TO discourage blossom snatchers, one man said he wanted his flowers to die with their roots on! Flowers that really looked freshly picked are adorning the window of the Photo Art Shop this week. Artistically arranged in their own base, there are roses in all colors, and lovely mixed bouquets. Stop in for yours this week—from $3.50. They really sent me—they're that real!

WOULDN'T you hate to be a moth? They have to live in a bathing suit all winter and a fur coat all summer! Northwood Furs, 902 Ludington, extend now for a limited period, a combination offer—cleaning and glazing of your fur coat and lining plus Certified Cold Storage Protection and Insurance—a $10.50 value for just $8.95! Bring in your furs this week to Northwood Furs!

THE stork kids the whole world. But look what he brought to the bachelors profession—a baby chimp! You take it from there and imagine the riotous movie this situation provides when Ronald Reagan adopts a talking ape in "Bedtime for Bonzo." Diana Lynn is the sweet blond the professor can't find time to marry. (If she can't make him lose his bachelor's degree, who can?) You'll love Bonzo—the juvenile delinquent of the year! Be sure to hit the Delft Theater Sunday or Monday to see this chimp make a monkey out of the professor. Strictly for laughs!

DOES your mother look dated? I don't mean old fashioned—I mean does she look like you dated her once in a while? There's a special date for mother coming up soon. Hope you've marked it on your calendar and are planning to buy that special Mother's Day Card from the big Norcross selection at the Office Service. The small Ideas book for this special day is something she will enjoy, too—just $5.00. Make it a heavy date with Mom with proper sentiments from OSCO!

Main House	28x25 ft.
Wing	31x21 ft.

The front door opens on a rectangular shaped entry hall. There is a convenient coat closet occupying the right wall in the front hallway.

Stairs to the second floor are located in the central hallway which opens off the entry hall and connects with the kitchen and living room. A window in the right wall lights this hallway.

Largest of the seven rooms in the house, the living room is 20'x14'4" in dimensions. The three-windowed bay in the front wall and the handsome fireplace centered in the left wall are the most attractive features of this room, and the decorative scheme should be planned to capitalize upon this fact.

Connected with the living room by an archway, the dining room is 12'x10'6". It enjoys cross ventilation and plenty of light from a window in the back wall and another window in the left wall. You'll be able to put to good use the china closets built into the two left corners of the room.

Mandy Dining Room
Since the dining room also is connected directly with the kitchen, family dinners or formal meals present no serving problem. Thoroughly modern in every way, the kitchen is 12'x10'6" in dimensions. The sink is located in the center of the working counters directly under the double windows in the back wall; the stove is conveniently placed against the right wall, just beside the working counters.

Within a few steps of the counters and the stove, the refrigerator is located against the left wall, beside the swinging door from the dining room. You'll be able to store all sorts of cleaning equipment in the handy broom closet in the left front corner of the room.

Lighted by one window in the back wall, the first floor lavatory is placed between the kitchen and laundry and opens on the connecting hallway. Stairs to the cellar also open off this hallway and are located directly opposite the lavatory.

With doors leading to both the front sun deck and the back porch, the laundry or utility room is also well lighted by two windows in the front wall and two in the back wall. Measuring 10' feet square, this room is large enough to hold a complete automatic home laundry.

On the second floor, a central hallway connects the three bedrooms, the bath and the large

Detroit Man Given 10 To 15 Years For Slaying Girl Friend

DETROIT—(AP)—Edmond Edwards, 27, was sentenced to 10 to 15 years imprisonment for the slaying of his married girl friend last Nov. 6.

A jury convicted Edwards of manslaughter in the strangling of Mrs. Ethel Rosiek, 31, in her apartment. Recorder's Judge O. Z. Ide imposed sentence.

Edwards admitted keeping company with Mrs. Rosiek while her truckdriver husband, Leonard, was out of town on trips.

Western Powers' Errors Help Rise of Communism

WASHINGTON — Confronted with the dynamics of Communism since 1917, the West has reacted with a series of errors that add up to something close to disaster. Those errors seem to me to have grown primarily out of repeated underestimation of the force of Communism as an ideology, as a Godless religion, as a system capturing the hopes and imagination of millions.

In the long tragedy of errors two stand out with glaring conspicuousness. And what is more they suggest that a third blunder arising from this same underestimation will be made if some powerful people have their way.

III-Fated Archangel Move
The first error lay in the effort of the British with a little help from the other Allies, to put down the Bolshevik revolution after the end of World War I. Intelligence reports indicated widespread disaffection in Russia directed at the little band of conspirators who were beginning to apply the techniques of a new tyranny.

These reports, which were substantially correct, led the British to believe that by backing certain Cossack generals and sending in an expeditionary force the revolution could be put down and the threat to the stability of all Europe brought to an end. But the means used for this objective were pathetically small. The expedition sent to Archangel was a mere handful of men and the Cossack generals were so discredited that they rallied little or no support behind them.

If the Western Allies had been prepared to send in a force of several hundred thousand trained and experienced men, the response of the Russian people might have been different and the shaky Bolshevik regime overthrown. In the war-weary West a force of that size and cost was out of the question. So the net result of the feeble and futile intervention was to leave a heritage of resentment and suspicion among the Bolsheviks and disillusion among those who had hoped to see the regime toppled over.

Mistake at Yalta
The second fundamental error was also, in my opinion, due to underestimating the force of Communism as an ideology fanatically bent on world conquest. The mistakes of Yalta and Potsdam at the end of World War II derived from Roosevelt's belief that Soviet Russia would be willing to live side by side with the Western powers in a peaceful world. It was in the hope of gaining Soviet confidence and cooperation that concessions were offered the Russians both in Europe and in Asia.

Roosevelt sincerely believed that he could win them around and only at the very end of his

Harry Talks To Himself After MacArthur Deal

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK—Today I am Harry Truman, and I don't know as I like the part very much. I am sitting in the Blair House and wondering all of a sudden if I am as smart as I thought.

Who would have figured when I fire the guy with the gold hat that it is going to make a political bum out of me? The way it stacks now I am practically convicted of kicking dogs and attacking moths. You would have thought he fired me, the way I have been treated since the man came home.

I'm the boss, ain't I? I'm the commander-in-chief. I want to fire a general; I fire a general. I will do the letter writing around here. Let MacArthur play soldier and stay away from the pen and ink.

I looked pretty good in there, I thought, when I made the speech just before he got home. I am for peace and what's right, and no guy can cross me up when I get my head fixed for peace the way I want it, strictly according to my terms. But how am I going to know that the man with the circus hat is going to cross me up?

Here I get Gen. Bradley to get up and make himself a tame speech just to take the edge off anything Mac might say. Bradley goes right along my line on Korea and he lays in a couple good zingers on MacArthur's insubordination. I figure I'm fixed and I got MacArthur's guns spiked.

Then he gets up in front of my Congress, just as meek as milk, and kind of casually mentions that his battle plans had the approval of the joint chiefs of staff, and throws the whole thing right back in my lap. Now we got six months of argument on that one, all by itself, and in the meantime I am accused of firing a guy for obeying orders from the JCS. At least that's how the public sees it.

life was he at least partly brought to a sense of the realities by certain insulting messages from Stalin. The only small gain in this was that the rest of the world could not help but be convinced that America had done everything possible to get peaceful cooperation with the Soviet Union and that therefore the blame must be on the Russian side.

Trouble in China

In his speech to congress, General MacArthur included a review of developments in China in the past 50 years in which, incidentally, he made no mention at all of Sun Yat-sen who was the principal leader of the revolution against the feudal regime of the Manchus. Then he said:

"There is little of the ideological concept either one way or another in the Chinese make-up. The standard of living is so low and the capital accumulation has been so thoroughly dissipated by war that the masses are desperate and eager to follow any leadership which seems to promise the alleviation of woeful stringencies."

This once again, it seems to me, underestimates the fanatical faith of the Communists in China who are seeking to weld an iron grip on the Chinese masses. Consequently, it encourages a serious under-estimation of the task to be accomplished if Communism is to be overthrown in China.

The long-term national interests of this country and of Asia may well coincide with such a goal regardless of its cost. But it cannot be one on the cheap and easy. It would call for military preparation far in advance of anything now planned and would in turn mean a resolution and determination on the part of the American people which would persuade us to accept continuing sacrifices and restrictions.

No Easy Victory

To try to do it on the cheap and easy could be expected to produce the results that came out of the feeble, half-hearted efforts to suppress the Bolshevik revolution in 1919 and '20. America's friends in China, and they are undoubtedly numbered in the millions, would be made disillusioned and resentful. The Communist regime in Peiping would be strengthened.

It is revealing that many of the Republicans who have flocked around MacArthur's banner are those who have sought to curtail the draft, to put a ceiling on military manpower, to impede plans for the defense of Europe and to cut military appropriations. They are seizing on what they think is a cheap and easy way to bring the war to an end with a sudden and miraculous victory.

Who would have thought that the people would have gone nuts over the guy, like they did? They never made that much fuss about me, not even when I hung one on Dewey. They couldn't have made much more fuss if the good Lord had come to pay us a call. And where am I? Out in left field. Away out.

And don't mention baseball to me, either. I can still hear those boos from the opener between the Yankees and the Senators. They like to tore the house down at the end of the game. The last president they hung a solid razz on was Herbert Hoover, and they backed up the moving vans to the White House on him at the next election. I wonder?

I expect I was pretty dumb not to meet the big guy at the airport, after what happened in Honolulu and San Francisco. I send that Vaughan down to meet him, and get my brains beat out for that, too. Who they expect I'm going to send, Margaret? Vaughan is a general, ain't he? You send a general to meet a general.

He's Boss Man?

Where I make the big boot is going out to Wake to talk things over with old magnificent. A president is a chump to go flying off to visit the help. I shoulda made him come see me, and taken some of the edge off this triumphal return. Planes fly two ways, and I am still the boss man. Or I thought so.

I dunno. Somehow this hasn't been my year. Seems like the last 12 months have been full of nothing but grief. Every time I get one thing squared away something else pops up. Like the RFC. If it ain't refrigerators it's milk coats. Now the papers say I am running a smear campaign to discredit MacArthur. This thing could last a long piece, and hurt. If they put that corn cob pipe and spangled hat up for president right now he could whip anybody in the country, including me. What am I saying?

There's just one thing that comforts me a little. The opposition has got so damn many campaign issues now that they are apt to water down before the stumpin' starts. I still got a good year to patch up the fences—especially if we can get rid of this MacArthur issue in the next six months. The only thing is, Korea is starting to look lousy again, and I gotta remember that this isn't MacArthur's war any longer. This is the Harry S. Truman special.

Mac is out from under and the whole shebang belongs to me. Oh, brother. Things were sure simpler in the Senate.

Committees Named At Perkins Meeting

PERKINS—Important committee appointments were made at the regular meeting of the Perkins Parent Teacher association held Thursday evening at the Perkins high school with 30 members attending. ## Memorial Planned For Hazel Laing

MARINETTE, Wis.—A memorial honoring the late Miss Hazel D. Laing, Marinette city and county librarian, is being planned. Some donations for a memorial project have already been received at the library and suggestions for such a project are being sought by the library board.

Following a meeting Monday by the library board Mrs. C. W. Skowlund, a board member, and Mrs. Lois Nelson and Miss Rita Mangan of the library staff were named as members of a memorial project committee. Suggestions and donations may be made to them.

At the meeting a resolution honoring Miss Laing was entered into the record as follows:

"In recognition of Hazel D. Laing whose 24 years of devoted service to the Stephenson Public Library—which service has always been characterized, not only by a vision of a library's responsibility to a community, but also by the keen desire, ability and understanding to attain unto these ends—to our librarian and our friend whose devotion to her profession, her church and her city was paramount and accomplished—to our memory of her very cheerful disposition that may never be diminished by the sorrow of her untimely, tragic death."

Word has been received from the Fox River Valley Library association in which Miss Laing had been active several years that the association also is planning a memorial to her.

Social

Trout Fishermen Asked To Cooperate In Preventing Forest Fires

Caution Urged While Smoking

Land Clearers Must Get Burning Permits

Trout fishermen are warned by the Michigan Conservation Department and U. S. Forest Service to be careful while smoking and building campfires in the woods.

Warmer weather has brought an increase in the forest fire hazard this week, the officials point out. Farmers and other land clearers are also reminded of the law concerning burning permits. It reads in part:

"It shall be unlawful when the ground is not snow-covered to start or have an open fire except for domestic purposes, and to protect persons or property in case of fire, without the written permission of the director of conservation or other authorized conservation officer."

Reasons for Control

The reasons for attempted control of burning are:

To insure burning only at times when the hazard is low or moderate.

To insure burning only in non-hazardous areas.

To provide detection personnel of the department of conservation (fire towers) with knowledge as to location of controlled burning.

Burning permits are readily obtained from any lookout, fire officer, conservation officer, or conservation headquarters. They may be obtained personally or by telephone. They are free for the asking.

The public, through obtaining burning permits whenever they find it necessary to burn, are as much a part of the fire fighting facilities of the state, as those actually engaged in suppression duties. Through this cooperative measure, you provide the department of conservation with knowledge as to legitimate burning and thus prevent a false alarm run to that location.

A Typical Case

Picture a forest fire lookout perched in his tower on a fairly hazardous day. He spots a smoke, correlates the location, checks his burning permits, and finds no record of one at that location. He then effects dispatch of equipment and personnel to that location, which is perhaps 30 miles distant. Perhaps, he exhausts his fire fighting facilities.

The crew arrives at the location and finds an individual doing controlled burning, but he has not obtained a permit.

At the same time an actual fire breaks 30 miles in the other direction. The only available equipment is on a false alarm run sixty miles away. By the time they are able to cover this distance, the fire has gained such headway that a dangerous situation exists. Had the fellow doing the controlled burning obtained a permit, it would not have been necessary to tie up the equipment on this run, and the actual fire could have been attacked twice as fast as it was.

Bark River

Junior Prom

BARK RIVER—The Bark River-Harris high school annual junior prom was held Friday evening at the Bark River community building. The theme of the party was "Down by the Old Mill Stream."

Dancing was from 9 to 1 with music by Chet Marrier and his orchestra.

Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Chester Good, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Swift, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Batzcek, Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Sztacyko, Mr. and Mrs. Taisto Orhanen and members of the school faculty.

Class officers are Kenneth Heim, president; Dora Cantu, vice president; Lilly Mae Dumas, secretary; Janet Good, treasurer.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ahlin and children have returned from Omaha, Neb., where Mrs. Ahlin and the children spent three weeks with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Simmons returned Sunday night from a weekend in Milwaukee. Mr. Simmons made the trip in connection with business interests. While there they attended a performance of the Ice Capades.

Classified Ads cost little but do a big job.

PLANS FIRE CAMPAIGN—Vern Taylor, of the conservation department's forest fire staff at Jackson, makes a final check of the list of "key" volunteer firefighters available for the spring campaign in southern Michigan districts. As throughout the state, trained volunteers are vital cogs in department planning to keep district fire losses to an absolute minimum.

Deer Kill Increase Noted Last Season

LANSING—(AP)—An increase in the kill of deer last year was reported by the state conservation department following a check of hunter report cards.

About 125,000 whitetails were shot by 393,000 hunters compared to a take of 116,000 deer by 393,000 hunters in the 1949 season.

The general firearms season accounted for about 19,800 deer, the bow and arrow season for about 2,500 and the special western Michigan season for about 2,186 deer.

About 42 per cent of the Upper Peninsula hunters were successful compared to about a 28 per cent ratio of success for Lower Peninsula sportsmen. Hunters had the best luck in Gogebie, Roscommon and Montmorency counties.

Heaviest Forest Fire Damage Was Downstate

While most persons think of heavy damage occurring only in more northern areas, the Michigan conservation department points out that nearly half of the 5,605 acres burned over last year were in the southern third of Michigan.

Coping with this enemy which creates about the highest form of excitement and fear calls for a well worked out battle plan in each of the 12 fire districts in the state. Outlined in each master protection plan are regular and secondary fire organizations, all available fire fighting equipment both privately and publicly owned, co-operating agreements with other public and private agencies, and means of communication. Individual district plans consider any special fire problems peculiar to an area. Maps of timber slashings and other hazards supplement the outline.

Receive Training

Volunteer fighting units get some of the same training as do regular department forest firefighters. They join in classroom study, field demonstrations of new equipment and engage in "dry run" maneuvers to keep in practice.

Special tools have come to forest fire fighting as they have to the modern army. Tools are much alike. The bulldozer, tractor-plow-tanker, tank truck, flame tank, pumps of several types, and other modern equipment bolster the effectiveness of a protection unit.

On larger fires especially, the application of trained forces and equipment is a most strategic task calling for cool heads and quick

Timber Wasted In Lake States

40 Per Cent Lost In Lumbering

Forty per cent of the wood harvested in the lake states each year is wasted during logging or manufacture, reports E. L. Demmon, director of the Lake States Forest Experiment Station, St. Paul, Minn.

His report is based on statistics on the amount of sawtimber, pulpwood, fuelwood, and miscellaneous products harvested and the amount of merchantable material produced in 1944. These show that of 333 million cubic feet of sawtimber cut that year, 149 million were wasted in logging and 48 million in manufacture. Of 179 cubic feet of pulpwood harvested, 19 million were wasted in logging and 19 million in manufacture.

Since wood-using industries are of great significance in the economy of the Lake States and must now depend partly on wood shipped in from other regions, Demmon points out that it is important to reduce wood waste as well as to build up forest production. There will always be some wood left on the forest and mill floors, but waste can be greatly reduced through better logging methods, the use of suitable equipment, integrating pulpwood cuttings with logging operations, reducing decay through improved storage facilities, and more efficient manufacturing processes.

Mrs. George Bayer, Nurse At Nome, Visiting Parents

BARK RIVER—Mrs. George A. Bayer, the former Audrey Gauthier of Bark River, who is a nurse in the Alaska Native Clinic Service, is visiting here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gauthier, before returning to Nome.

Mrs. Bayer and her husband, chief deputy U. S. Marshal at Nome, made the trip to the states by plane to take a native Eskimo patient to St. Elizabeth's hospital in Washington, D. C. After leaving Washington they visited relatives in New York and Detroit. Mr. Bayer went on to Walla Walla, Wash., to spend some time with his people and Mrs. Bayer came to Bark River. She plans to leave for Nome June 1.

Temperatures at Nome, Mrs. Bayer said, are well below zero, and the snow is just beginning to disappear.

Resources keep nations strong. That's why patriotic Americans cannot afford to be careless with fire in the woods. In an average year more than 15 million acres of timberland are burned in the United States. Ninety per cent of these fires are started by careless, ignorant or malicious people—men and women—who fail to realize the harm they do.

A Reminder
TO FOLKS WHO ARE PLANNING PICNICS

Green forests are an American heritage. Picnics in the woods—the tangy smoke of a carefully watched campfire—hiking—hunting—fishing—all are part and parcel of healthful outdoor recreation to millions every year. Americans can both use and keep their forests always if they protect them from fire and harvest them wisely.

Eastern Counties

The planting of 58,800 trout in six eastern Upper Peninsula counties has been completed by the Thompson fish hatchery, it is announced.

Counties in which fish were planted are Alger, Delta, Chippewa, Luce, Mackinac and Schoolcraft. A total of 23,300 was planted in Schoolcraft county waters.

Total plantings include 37,000 brook trout, 10,600 brown trout, and 11,200 rainbows.

Reported Illegal
Walleye Spearing
Angers Sportsmen

A warm topic of discussion at the regular meeting of the Schoolcraft County Sportsmen's club Thursday night was the reported illegal spearing of walleyes in Indian Lake.

Considerable illegal taking of walleyes from the lake occurred last year and some spearing already has taken place this spring, according to reports submitted at the session.

Although taking no official action, members of the club reached agreement that something must be done to preserve the lake's walleye population from poachers.

The club also completed affiliation with the United Conservation Clubs of Michigan and decided to send several delegates and members to the state convention at St. Ignace in June.

Russel Brunet, former secretary of the club, was appointed acting vice president at the meeting.

Three Isms Are Explained HereMeeting Is Held
At Court House

Basic differences of communism, socialism and capitalism were explained by Dale Butz and Richard Hartwig, agricultural economists of Michigan State College, at a meeting Thursday evening at the court house.

The speakers used charts and a motion picture to illustrate their message.

The speakers pointed out that while capitalism differs broadly from communism or socialism, there is little basic difference between socialism and communism. So-called socialist governments, such as exist in England and the Scandinavian countries, are unlike communism because they represent a compromise between capitalism and socialism whereas soviet communism is complete state ownership and control.

Outstanding traits of capitalism, or the free enterprise system, they pointed out, are: Free entry into any business, job or profession by an individual; control of prices by the law of supply and demand; the profit motive as an incentive to produce; and competition to create efficiency and service.

The other systems, the speakers said, provide state instead of private ownership; state direction of what a person may do in the work field; honors and the promise of power as a reward for effort; state control of prices; and state monopoly, thereby wiping out competition.

Highland Golf Club's First Stag Is Tuesday

Everything's set for the big opening of the Highland golf club next week.

The men's opening stag will be held next Tuesday night at the club, about seven miles west of Escanaba. There will be golf and dinner will be served at 7 o'clock. No reservations are necessary.

New Kitchen Installed

Hazen Hengesh, president of the club, said today that everything is in shape for the opening. The course is dry, although temporary greens will be in use, and in good shape for this time of year.

Women of the club, headed by Mrs. Grover Lewis, have installed a completely new, modern kitchen.

Vial Smith again will be club pro this year. He has been with the club about 10 years. Francis Courville has returned from Detroit and will be in charge of the clubhouse.

Club membership again will be up to its 185 limit, Hengesh said. The club was chartered in 1929.

"Official" Opening Later

The "official" club opening has been tentatively set for May 21. "We are all set for a big season," said Hengesh. "We are planning plenty of activity for everyone, the course is in excellent shape and the club house has been improved. We should have a good year."

Hengesh said a meeting of the board of directors will be held at the clubhouse Monday night at 7:30. Directors include Hengesh, Mert Jensen, Einar Beck, George Walter, Grover Lewis, Ben Douglas, B. M. Stade, Ernie Flath, and C. E. Johnson.

Bark River Broncos Set For St. Joe

BARK RIVER—Dale Erickson, veteran right-hander, will get the call for pitching chores here Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock when Bark River-Harris high school Broncos take on St. Joseph of Escanaba.

Coach George LeBrasseur can field a veteran outfit that is well supplied with pitching talent as well as hitters.

If Erickson falters, LeBrasseur can call on Bill Vincent, who pitched for Wilson in the Tri-County league last year, or Francis Bartozek, who hurled for Peroville in the same league.

David Kwarciany will catch. With Erickson pitching, Vincent will be on first, George Cavadeas on second, Jack Poisson on shortstop and Ken Heim on third.

The outfield will have Bob Wickstrom in left, Bartozek in center and Ken Tounsignant in right.

In reserve, LeBrasseur will have Ken Taylor and Allan Schoen in the outfield and Harold Charbonneau and Jack LaVesque in the infield.

Tigers Seek New Start; Meet Sox

DETROIT—(AP)—This may be the day for a much-needed new start by the Detroit Tigers.

Idle much of the week, the Bengals take on the Chicago White Sox, probably wishing they could wipe their first six games of the American league season off the record books.

There are reasons to think the Tigers' fresh beginning may improve the record of two victories and four defeats that has them in sixth place just now.

First, there is the expected return to the lineup of third baseman George Kell, out of action since his hand was spiked in an exhibition game in March.

Kell Hitting the Ball
Kell, second best batter in the league last season, has been working out for two days after taking the splints off his broken finger.

"He seems to be hitting the ball all right," Manager Red Rolfe observed. He added: "Kell said his hand bothered him a little when he was forced to spread the fingers a bit while grabbing the ball. I think in a game he might forget about that."

Besides the return of Kell, Detroit can pin some hopes for improvement on the pitching staff.

While not brilliant, the mound performances to date have been steady and might well have produced victories with better support.

Bearden Is Wild
For example, Ted Gray, Rolfe's choice to open against the White Sox, has one loss in his record but three of the four runs scored off him in that game could be blamed on loose fielding.

Rolfe also has a new pitcher to work into his plans. Big southpaw Gene Bearden, purchased from Washington on Thursday, worked out yesterday and Rolfe was quite satisfied although admitting the new addition was "a little wild."

"With that knuckleball Bearden needs work," the manager said. "He hasn't been getting much work with Washington."

Finally, Rolfe is counting on his outfield—Vic Wertz, Hoot Evers and Johnny Groth—to start showing a big improvement.

Tomorrow Hal Newhouser is scheduled to face Chicago. Then the Tigers get a day off before meeting the highly-regarded Boston Red Sox and the world champion New York Yankees.

Three other Card pitchers have turned in complete game performances and two—veterans Harry Brecheen and Max Lanier—each has allowed only one run. Tom Poholsky, the surprising kid right-hander, has worked 15 innings for a 1-1 record, giving up 5 runs and nine hits. His last start was a two-hit, 4-0 blanking of Pittsburgh.

Only 19 Runs
As a result, such up-and-coming prospects as Bob Habenicht, Kurt Krieger and Joe Preskovich—yet yet worked up a sweat, and between them, Cloyd Boyer, George Munger, Al Brazle, Ted Wilks and Irv Dusak have served only nine innings.

In 62 innings to date, the Card mound staff has surrendered only 18 runs.

"How does it feel to be on top?" asked Marion. "It's swell. I only hope it gets to be a habit. Our fielding has been fine. That plus the pitching has us moving along. Stan Musial seems to like it back in the outfield and Steve Bilko is doing all right at first base. Can't complain, either, about Solly Hemus at shortstop."

Second Straight Shutout
Smoothly is the word for it. Gerry Staley's fine six-hitter against the Cubs made it the second straight shutout for a Cardinal twirler and gave Marion's pitching staff a skein of 37 innings in which only two runs were allowed.

Staley, a 13-13 performer last year, is the Cards' first two-game winner this season and for his 18 innings has allowed only one run, despite a yield of 15 hits.

Marion Is Happy At Card Hurling

CHICAGO—(AP)—Rookie Manager Marty Marion of the first-place St. Louis Cardinals is getting so much good pitching it has him in a quandary.

In the wake of the Red Birds' fourth straight win by a 3-0 count over the Chicago Cubs yesterday, Marion admitted he hasn't been able to separate the boys from the men on his mound staff.

"I got some kids with pitching talent, but I can't give them a whirl with things going so smoothly," grinned the lanky former Cardinal shortstop star.

Shomin Stars As Eskymos Beat Stephenson Trackmen

MSC Relay Team Smashes Record

DES MOINES—(AP)—A likely record-smashing Drake relay team was the lure today for midwestern track fans.

With the help of a great Michigan State performance, the 42nd annual carnival sped toward a possible peak climax.

One of four opening day records yesterday came from the MSC four-mile relay team which sliced more than eight seconds off a mark that had stood for 12 years.

Today's headline attraction was the pole vault duel matching Don Laz of Illinois and Don Cooper of Nebraska who only a week ago became the first collegiate vaulters to soar higher than 15 feet.

Michigan State, outside the pre-meet boom for Washington State and Michigan in the university four-mile relay, beat them both in the sizzling time of 17:21.2 to clip the 17:29.6 record by Oklahoma A. & M. in 1939.

Warren Druetzler, scratched from the individual two mile which Herb Semper of Kansas won in 9:17.4, anchored the Spartans with a 4:15.8 mile. His valuable assistance came from Jim Keppford, John Walter and Don Makielski. The quartet whipped the westerners by five yards and Michigan by a much wider margin.

Jim Ford, Jack Kelly and Ray Eiland, three sophomores, teamed with junior Jim Lavery to carry the Drake baton to a new mark of 1:25.5 in the second heat of the 880-yard relay preliminaries. The former record was 1:25.9 held jointly by Ohio State and Texas.

Jesse Thomas Qualifies
Loyola lowered the college distance medley mark from 10:34.7 to 10:26.3. Beloit, which won last year in the inaugural of the event here, was second to the Chicagoans.

Darrow Hooper, big Texas A. & M. sophomore, took the discus with a throw of 152.65 feet and Charley Meeks of the University of Texas won the broad jump at 23 feet, 8 3/8 inches.

Entries from Michigan fared well in several events.

Russ Gabier of Western Michigan ran second in the two-mile behind Herb Semper of Kansas while a teammate, Al Renick, qualified in the 120-yard high hurdles.

Dashman Jesse Thomas of Michigan State qualified for the 100 where the best time in a big field was 10 seconds flat, by three men.

Fourth in Broad Jump
Michigan's Ron Soble broad-jumped 23 feet 3 1/2 inches for fourth place. Charley Meeks of Texas won with 23 feet 8 3/8 inches.

Michigan State qualified for the half-mile relay in which Drake ran in record time of 1:25.5.

Boxer Wins But Is Put On Shelf
NEW YORK — (AP) — Danny Bucceroni probably will be on the shelf five weeks as the result of an eye cut suffered in whipping Dick Wagner of Toppenish, Wash., last night at St. Nicholas Arena.

In the second round blood spurted from Bucceroni's eye in a steady flood after a clinch. Only fine work in the corner by Trainer Jimmy Wilson stopped the flow after the third round.

Bucceroni, 178, knocked down Wagner, 172, three times in the bloody, action-filled brawl.

Senators, Cards Are Surprises

(By The Associated Press)

The Washington Senators and St. Louis Cardinals are the real surprise clubs of the early 1951 season.

Bucky Harris' Senators were consigned to the second division in pre-season polls. The experts smiled politely when Manager Marty Marion and owner Fred Saigh talked about the "contending" Cardinals. Today both are in first place.

Washington's dazzling spurt on sensational pitching shot the Senators to the front of the American league pack. Six of Bucky's eight starting pitchers went the route. One was lifted for a pinch hitter after eight innings. Gene Bearden, the only starter to be knocked out, was sold to Detroit.

Best Start in History
"Go the route or get out" seems to be Bucky's new deal.

Sandy Consuegra, the second half of Bucky's rhumba twins, did his stuff on the sorry Philadelphia A's last night, with a five-hit 6-1 job. Thursday night his countryman, Connie Marrero, stuffed a one-hitter down the A's throats.

Washington historians claim the Senators are off to their best start in history with a 7-1 record. Of course, the A's were convenient four-time victims. In the last four games, Philadelphia has scored only two runs. The A's have lost eight in a row.

Gil Coan led the 10-hit attack on loser Carl Scheib and two successors with a triple and two singles.

Gets Good Pitching
Marion's pitching has been even better than Washington's with five complete games and two shutouts in seven starts.

Gerry Staley shut out Chicago, 3-0, with six hits for his second route-going job against the Cubs. He has allowed only one run in 18 innings and the entire St. Louis staff has yielded only two runs in the last 37 innings.

Who is the best golfer in the United States today?

"There are a lot of good ones and it is difficult to say," said Mark, a native of Miami, Fla., who comes here from the Woodhill Country club of Minneapolis.

"For sheer shot perfection, I think I'd take Sammy Snead. He is a perfectionist. But I think you'll still have to nominate Ben Hogan as tops."

"Snead has one failing—he forgets to think once in a while. And against a fierce competitor like the courageous Hogan, that is fatal. I think Snead is as good as—or perhaps better than—Hogan in golf equipment. But when they meet, Snead always seems to feel that Hogan will beat him. And, more often than not, Hogan does."

Midwest Is Friendly
Mark, who arrived here this week from Miami, thinks the Upper Peninsula is a wonderful summer spot.

"From what I have seen of it, you have beauty that matches most sections of the country,"

Spray Reduces Deer Damages

Browsing Causes Death Of Trees

Deer browsing sometimes causes considerable damage to forest reproduction in concentration areas protected from hunting. Land owners desiring to protect small forest plantations or ornamental trees will be interested in a recent experiment conducted by the Lake States Forest Experiment Station in northeastern Wisconsin which indicates that protection can be obtained by spraying small trees with chemical deer repellents.

The experiment was made by Lake States Forest Experiment Station foresters in a 1-year-old plantation of white pine in an area subject to moderate to heavy deer damage. Of 200 trees treated with a commercial repellent in the fall of 1949, only 12.5 per cent suffered over-winter injury by deer. Of 200 trees left untreated, 49 per cent suffered browsing damage.

Similar spraying on 1,200 jack and red pines had less effect because the deer browsed these species very little, whether they were treated or not.

Spraying of susceptible species, such as white pine, the station reports, using 1 pound of repellent to 2½ gallons of water seems to be particularly effective over winter if the spray is applied in September. Additional spraying may be needed, however, as soon as the snow disappears in the spring and possibly in late winter if the trees are not covered by snow.

The spraying requires one man-day of labor per acre for treating about a thousand trees.

Pep Beats Chavez; Not Set For Saddler

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Swift-punching Willie Pep, ex-featherweight champion, listed his 16th professional fight in the records today—a ten-round win over young Eddie Chavez. But in his own words, he isn't ready yet to try to regain the title he last lost last fall.

In the dressing room after he had given the 20-year-old lightweight prospect from San Jose a boxing lesson, the Hartford, Conn. flash said:

"I'm not right yet for Sandy Saddler. I need a few more fights."

He weighed 127 3/4 pounds to 135 for Chavez.

Pep lost, regained and then dropped the title to Saddler. A fourth championship match between the two is expected to be signed for Yankee stadium in New York this summer.

Walloping Willie last night had too much experience. Pep out-boxed Chavez; danced in and out and feinted him into openings throughout the bout.

Superfort Plunge In Azores Kills 11 American Airmen

LISBON, Portugal—(AP)—Eleven crewmen were killed and five others injured when a U. S. air force B-29 Superfortress crashed and burned in the Azores Thursday.

Two men jumped from the falling plane when it was only 60 feet above the ground. Reports received here said the huge bomber, on a training flight, developed engine trouble and had almost reached Lagers airfield when it hit an electric power pole.

The bomber was based at Roswell, New Mexico.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — (AP)—A few hours before his wife was scheduled to obtain her final divorce decree, Police Sgt. T. H. Montgomery killed his 19-year-old son and then shot himself to death.

Grand Marais

Birthday Treasure Hunt

Jackie Senecal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Senecal, celebrated his eleventh birthday anniversary with a "treasure hunt". The guests met at the Senecal home at 4 p. m., April 25.

Friends present were Robert Lambert, Edwin and Paul Senecal, James Thorrington, Larry Nyman, Patrick Wood, Ernest Drust, Everett Bugg and Bruce McLeod.

Directly following the discovery of the treasure, a buffet lunch was served by Mrs. Senecal and Mrs. Magdalene McLeod. Jackie received a novel assortment of presents.

Iron Mountain Youth Hurt In Ann Arbor Crash; Student Killed

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(AP)—Eric J. Castellino, 21-year-old University of Michigan student from Bangalore, India was killed in an automobile crash today after a fraternity post-initiation beer-drinking celebration, police reported.

The victim was riding with three other youths in a car driven by Lee Stenton, 23, of Bad Axe. Stenton told officers he lost control of the car on a curve. The car smashed into a tree about 12 miles northwest of here on the Dexter-Pinckney road.

Stenton told police about 30 members of Alpha Kappa Psi had adjourned to a tavern at nearby Portage Lake after Castellino's initiation last night. The boys were returning here when the accident occurred. Stenton was held for investigation of the negligent homicide.

Joseph C. Veretti, 21, of Iron Mountain was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in serious condition with lacerations of the face and neck.

Patch Things Up With MacArthur; Stassen's Advice To Truman

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Republican leader Harold E. Stassen wrote President Truman today that "for the good of America" there should be "a reconciliation between you and Gen. Douglas MacArthur."

In his letter, Stassen said: "If the disagreement runs its bitter course to the end, whatever its outcome may be, it can do no good for our country. * * * 'I therefore ask with humility that you consider extending an invitation to Gen. MacArthur to meet and confer with you.'"

Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania, told a news conference he delivered the letter to the White House this morning.

He said he did not see the President, nor ask to see him.

At the same time, Stassen said, he sent a telegram to MacArthur in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Lenon and two sons, Herb Jr. and Asa, returned this week from Tampa, Florida, where they spent the past 18 weeks. While there they visited Mrs. Ruby Brown, a sister of Mr. Lenon.

Toner-Ohm

Of special interest to friends here is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Ann Nancy Toner, daughter of Mrs. Raymond Toner of Milwaukee, to Ronald J. Ohm, also of Milwaukee. The ceremony was performed Saturday, April 14, at seven o'clock in the evening at Holy Ghost Evangelical Lutheran church in Milwaukee. A reception was held at eight o'clock in the evening at Hindman's Hotel. The new Mrs. Ohm is a niece of James and William Toner and is in charge of T.V. programs for the Milwaukee Journal.

Big Muskie Caught By Fisherman On Detroit Waterfront

DETROIT—(AP)—While hundreds of Detroit fishermen headed for Michigan's north country and the opening of the trout fishing season, a 60-year-old fisherman made the news while calmly fishing on the Detroit waterfront.

Ed Kubelus hooked and landed yesterday a 45 pound muskie, one of the biggest catches here in recent months. He used fishing tackle that cost less than $1.

Kubelus had no net available but another fisherman, Bill Gioiosa of Detroit, used his raincoat as a makeshift affair to bring the big fish ashore.

Skipper In Tanker Collision Barred From Duty For Life

MOBILE, Ala.—(AP)—A veteran ship master convicted of negligence in a tanker collision which killed 39 seamen planned today to fight a Coast Guard order barring him from sea duty for life.

"Oh, my God, I've lost my livelihood," sobbed Capt. Edwin C. Geick of Bayonne, N. J., when the findings of an examiner were announced yesterday. "I've never done anything but to sea."

Coast Guard examiner Daniel H. Grace permanently revoked Geick's sailing license and suspended the license of Third Mate Jesse A. McLean for three months.

Grace ruled that negligence of the two officers contributed to the collision April 20 of their tanker, the Esso Suez, and the Esso Greensboro. The Greensboro, loaded with 140,000 gallons of crude oil, burst into flames. Only five members of its 42-man crew survived.

Grounded Japanese Vessel Sought Off California Coast

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Coast Guard rescue vessels fought their way through high-running seas and rain this morning searching for a Japanese freighter with 54 persons aground off the California coast.

The Kenkoku Maru radioed a distress call early today that she had run aground in a heavy fog and that her engine room bottom was smashed in.

The Coast Guard said four rescue vessels—two cutters and two tugs—were immediately dispatched out the golden gate, but met heavy seas and driving rain squalls.

The search was also hampered by lack of an accurate position for the stricken ship. Her first radio message said she was wrecked on the Farallon islands, 25 miles west of the golden gate. A second said she had run aground on Bodega Head, 48 miles north.

Originally more than two-fifths of the land area of the earth, exclusive of the polar regions, was covered with primeval forest.

Pal New England Golfers To Meet

PINEHURST, N. C. — (AP) — Pat O'Sullivan and Mae Murray, New England golfers who winter in North Carolina's Sandhills country, met for the 49th women's North and South championship today.

The two have been closer than two peas in a pod for the last two winters. Miss O'Sullivan, defending champion, and Miss Murray have shared the desk work at a nearby hotel.

Each scored in handsome fashion in yesterday's semifinals. Pat won a 4 and 3 decision from Marjorie Lindsay of Decatur, Ill., and Mae ran away from Charlotte Decozen, of Parsippany, N. J., 6 and 5.

Army Airman Fined For Landing Plane Atop Mount Rainier

LONGMIRE (Mt. Rainier National Park) Wash.—(AP)—An intrepid air force pilot with a penchant for landing airplanes in high places like the top of Mount Rainier—landed in U. S. commissioners court yesterday.

His involuntary presence there cost him a $350 fine and a suspended six-month jail sentence. Unless he appeals, first lieutenant John Hodgkin must put up the $350 by 3 p. m. next Wednesday.

Hodgkin, 41, from Selma, Calif., had a yen to land a plane and take off from a point higher than anybody else in the world. So on April 12 he landed his stripped-down, ski-equipped Piper Cub plane in the saddle atop 14,408-foot Mount Rainier. He spent the night there.

A rescue crew of park rangers toiled toward him. But Hodgkin glided the plane down-mountain to a frozen lake at the 5,000-foot level. Fuel was dropped to him. Then he flew to a small, straw-covered runway at Spanaway, near Tacoma, whence the odd flight started.

Indian Sect Suggests Truman And Stalin Talk Peace In Nude

NEW DELHI, India — (AP) — An Indian sect has suggested that President Truman and Prime Minister Stalin meet for peace talks—in the nude.

Shivan Chida Nand Gir, leader of 50,000 Naga (nude) sect monks and nuns, commented in an interview last night that such nude conferences generate an atmosphere of "I have nothing to hide from you." This, he said, is the basis for all good will among men.

Gir's sect is one of several participating in the Indian holy men's convention for peace now in its third day here.

Gir, 50-year-old college graduate, said "dress is the badge of lost innocence and its universal discarding helps to create international goodwill." His followers are ordained to be naked in thought, word and action as well as in physical appearance.

Bearings Seized

FRANKFURT, Germany — (AP) Pressing their crackdown on the leakage of strategic materials to iron curtain countries, American military police seized eleven tons of German made ball bearings at the German-Czechoslovak border, U. S. authorities here disclosed today. The bearings, valued at $75,000, were shipped by an unnamed British firm.

Flint Druggist And Bandit Shoot It Out; Both Badly Wounded

FLINT, Mich.—(AP)—A druggist shot it out with an ex-convict during a holdup last night. Both were in critical condition today.

In a hospital are Gordon McCann, 47, the druggist, and George M. Cook, 36, a recent parolee from San Quentin prison who has a long record of holdups in California.

McCann has bullet wounds in the groin and leg. Cook has wounds in the chest, abdomen, forearm, upper arm and hand. McCann's wife, Estelle, 43, suffered a graze wound in the forehead.

Police said Cook ordered a pint of whisky, two bottles of soft drink and some paper cups in the drug store. He handed Mrs. McCann a $5 bill. As she went for the soft drink he pulled a gun and stepped toward the cash register, police said.

Cook opened fire with a .38-caliber revolver as McCann reached in a drawer under the cash register for his .32 revolver, according to officers. McCann hit Cook with all six bullets as he emptied his gun.

Police found McCann lying on the floor. Cook was slumped across the front seat of car parked around the corner from the drugstore.

Voice Of America Spurs Poles To Flee In Stolen Engines

BRUSSELS, Belgium—(AP)—Broadcasts by the voice of America and the BBC inspired 12 Polish rail workers to flee their Communist homeland in two stolen locomotives and seek refuge in Western Europe, it was learned last night.

With the help of a forged collective passport, the freedom-loving 12 broke through the iron curtain and made a 17-day journey across Germany to Courtrai, Belgium. Not even the Russian border guards in East Germany questioned their credentials.

Five of the escapees have been given asylum in Belgium. The other seven continued on to France.

One of the railroaders, Stanislaw Oles, said two Belgium-made locomotives broke down and Polish officials ordered them sent to Belgium for repairs. Six good Communists were supposed to take the engines, but the 12 non-Communists steamed off in them instead.

Williams Stakes All On Sen. Moody

feels that he is the Democratic Party. He is the arbiter.

During his first term Williams listened often to his labor union advisers. He pretty thoroughly ignored the pro-CIO Democrats. Now, apparently, he listens to no one.

Loyalty Undivided

He alone won reelection last fall. Probably he would not be human if he did not come to the conclusion that he is the glue which holds the party together.

He has virtually built a new party in Michigan. It oes under the name of the Democratic party, but in personnel, workers, strategy and leadership, it is not the party of Comstock, Murphy and Van Wagoner. Neither is it the party of Scholle, eRuther, Martel and Hofia.

And now, over the shrill objections of his lieutenants, he has chosen a personal friend for senator, a man who will be loyal to him and to no one else in the party.

Williams is clearly and absolutely in control of his party. He is the general.

The political question now is: will there be any privates in the ranks when the party marches to battle in November, 1952?
